Frequently Asked Questions

✦ Are the Design Collections AI generated?

Our designs are created in-studio by hand using our God-given talents. We follow the same design process we would use when working directly with an end client. However, we may occasionally use AI to enhance certain elements in order to create the most realistic images possible. We continue to use trusted software commonly used throughout the design industry while also working alongside AI to help streamline our projects. Rest assured, our concepts are professional, high-quality designs.

✦ Do you provide customizations or revisions?

Yes! Customizations to a design are billed at a separate hourly or structured packages rate. (See Interior Collections page on our website for more info). All Customization services are intended to adapt the design to the client's space and lifestyle while preserving the integrity of the original design direction.

✦ Do you offer refunds?

No. Due to the digital nature of this product, all sales are final. If you have any trouble downloading these products, please reach out to us so we can fix any issues that arise.

✦ Is Shipping involved?

No, our products are entirely digital, once you purchase a design it will download directly to your computer. No shipping is involved in the purchase.

✦ Can I see the full design before purchasing?

Yes! We provide walkthroughs of each space on our YouTube Channel, so you can see the full design before you purchase!

✦ Who is this design kit for?

Our Interior Collections are designed for busy homeowners, investors, and property managers who are drawn to bold, expressive interiors but need a clear direction to bring their vision to life. They are also ideal for those planning a full-home renovation, remodel, or new build who feel stuck at the starting point and struggle to finalize cohesive design decisions.

✦ Why purchase one of our design collections?

For many years we have worked with a variety of clients from private homeowners to investors and property managers and we have consistently noticed that many busy clients who attempted to design their own spaces were quickly met with decision fatigue, weeks or months of research and indecision, and the overwhelm of starting from zero. Only after investing money trying to design a space themselves, do they reach out to a designer for guidance.

In response, House of Jenn evolved into creating “The Interior Collections.” Designed to help clients instantly visualize their finished space before purchasing anything and make informed decisions with confidence. The goal is to help eliminate costly design missteps, inconsistencies, and the overwhelm of starting from scratch by providing a complete, designer-led aesthetic without ambiguity. These ready-to-use Interior Collections provide homeowners with a clear, elevated roadmap to confidently execute in their own spaces.

So often, someone’s style is not always defined by a single word like “modern”, “Bohemian”, or “transitional” but rather through visuals, and pictures. So often, many don’t know what they like, until they see it in a fully designed space – this makes the process a bit easier as it gives them a foundation to build from. The process of tailoring an already completed design to meet the needs and lifestyle of one's own space becomes much easier to digest and is much more enjoyable.
